

Appendix B. Model of Course Design

The four course components all contribute to student learning and inform each other. The conversations/themes that run through the semester tie together the course components. Assignments are not included in the model as they are a typical component of many courses.

